Learning Objective: Recognize punctuation and use it in sentences.

Work in pairs to write a sentence on a Wipe-Off® Strip. Once everyone has their sentences drafted, ask them to erase the end punctuation.

Then, display a sentence on the board for all to read. Hold up each punctuation mark from the set and, by a show of hands, the class decides if it is the correct punctuation mark for the sentence.

To test your work, invite a helper to read the sentence out loud once the punctuation mark is in place. Continue for each mark. The pair who wrote the sentence then confirms if the class is correct. Carry on for all of the sentences until everyone has had a turn.

Enthusiasm abounds when monkeying around with punctuation!
